

SCHOLARSHIPS AND MENTORING WITH PowMio

Who are we?

PowMio GmbH is a software company based in Germany and Serbia. Our team is built up upon professional expertise gathered for more than 15 joint-years of delivering software solutions for medium and large size businesses. The daily work of our professionals revolves around the development of high-quality software for our clients. Our key service offering is full-stack software development and software design services. Not only do we handle software and technological challenges of our clients, we also innovate with them and work on our own innovation projects using the latest and most advanced software techniques and technologies.

What do we offer?

In collaboration with Belgrade Metropolitan University (BMU) we offer 10 scholarships to students who will enroll in the first academic year of the Software Engineering B.Sc. program. The scholarship covers of tuition fees and can be extended until the completion of the 4th academic year. Students that showed strong motivation and good practical skills will win the opportunity to study online at BMU and work in Germany after finishing their first academic year in Serbia. This will be your lifetime opportunity to learn how software is created and work practices from a technologically advanced country, like Germany.

What do we expect from you?

You will perform the practical part of your studies with us. It can include software development, design, and other engineering-related tasks. The working hours are set to be approximately 20 hours per week throughout an academic year. We expect from you to be motivated and passionate about software innovation and technologies. We also expect you to fulfill both theoretical and practical parts of your university responsibilities.

How to win the scholarship?

You need to have an interview with our experts to asses, whether you are qualified to win the scholarship or not. Additionally, we have prepared a logical thinking and a programming test for those who already have programming experiences to evaluate the skills of our candidates. If you're interested in winning the PowMio scholarship for Belgrade Metropolitan University, please send your motivation letter (in English or Serbian) to contact@powmio.com. The submission deadline is the 26th of July 2019.
